

A search was made for the sister of the General, Pierre Beauregard, the mother of James Beauregard Faith. A priest at the St. Louis Cathedral, New Orleans, after a fruitless search through the records, finally remembered her story. She was the oldest child of Jacques Toutant Beauregard and Judith Helaine Antonio de Reggio, named for her mother; but she displeased her parents so much when she married, James Robert Faith, out of the Catholic Faith that her name was stricken from all Church and family records and the family forbidden to speak her name:
